New Routes to University

Turn your achievements into a degree at Edinburgh Napier University

BA Business & Enterprise

Edinburgh Napier University in partnership with ibp academy is offering a new and innovative way of achieving your degree.

- New degree, with many acceptable entry qualifications
- New study pattern, one day per month at university with on-line support
- Opportunity to enter at three points in the year, January, May and September

Students who complete a range of SVQ or vocational qualifications can now 'top up' to degree level by joining the BA Business and Enterprise. This degree is a new Departure for further and higher education and provides an opportunity for learners to continue their learning and progress directly into the final year of a degree course.

The overall programme will provide:

- Workplace based learning, linked to organisational as well as personal objectives, designed to help you deliver business and personal results
- Learning and activities designed to help enhance the businesses in which you are working
- Development of enterprising people able to take forward the challenges of modern businesses or organisations

The BABE programme structure is very flexible and is built around the following modules:

- Innovation, Creativity and Enterprise (20 credits)
- Business Processes (20 credits)
- Business Growth Issues (20 credits)
- A workplace-based learning project (60 credits)

The one day per month at university is supported with on-line materials, and additional workshops for workplace based learning. This approach will minimise off-job time.

The aim of BA Business & Enterprise is to develop you and enhance your career opportunities. Assessments are therefore practical and applied, including reports around work roles, workplace-based assignments, presentations and case studies on the work completed. BA Business & Enterprise has no traditional exams.

On graduating, you will be well placed to address business and organisational issues, work in innovative creative ways and achieve results for you, your career and your organisation.
